

ACTRA NEXT

PROJECT STAFFING

The quality of your staff is key to the company's success. It is essential to be critical and selective on hiring staff. Talented employees, both fixed or flex, working in the right place with inspiring guidance and exiting business objectives deliver measurable valuable results.

The whole idea of being successful as a business is based upon working together; one workforce, one team. The added value in skills and competences is more important than the type of agreement. One workforce, it means regardless of whether you are in permanent employment or if you have been temporarily hired, the results count. More and more we realize that flexibility in this rapidly changing technology driven market is the most important success factor.

ACTRA NEXT is specialized in delivering highly talented people for technology customers. People that we know very well from background, personal drive and ambitions and we proudly represent as Talent Agency.

As Talent Agency we work in the first place for the talents we accompany in getting the best out of their careers. It is their career, they decide. We advice and coach to get the best out of it. As company you get the best value for money when a talent works in the right organization, likes the assignment and is aware that this assignment add value to his set of experiences for a next career step.

The type of agreement will never be forced by ACTRA NEXT. Whether the talent start as contractor, as employee or any combination of these, it is okay for AN as long as the talent and the hiring company both agree.
